Description	Marseille is the oldest city of France. It is also called the door of the World. Founded in 600 before J.C. by Greek sailors of Phocaea, Marseille is the first port of France. Founded in 600 BC by Greek sailors from Phocaea, Marseille is the first port in France. Spend two days in this amazing city, its cosmopolitan life, its Mediterranean side. It is the second largest city in France is probably the most exotic of all. The inevitable fish market, early in the morning, towards the Old Port to meet the fishermen who come to sell at auction what they fished during their journey at sea. Visit the Mucem: the most emblematic museum of Marseille and go eat a bouillabaisse in the district of the basket. It is the oldest part of the city, where the Greek city was established during the creation of Marseille. It was made famous by the soap opera "Plus belle la vie". After eating, stroll through the pretty narrow streets and colorful facades that recall the atmosphere of a small Provençal village. And at the end of the day, do not forget Notre-Dame de la Garde also known by the nickname of the Good Mother, so dear to the Marseillais, is the essential place of Marseille. A 360 ° view of all Marseille awaits you there. For your second day, relax on the beaches of Prado. If you prefer art, go to Julien, the artists' quarter. With the bus n ° 83, you can also rejuvenate Malmousque and go for a stroll in one of the most picturesque small ports of the city center. This cove is a true paradise on earth. Take a tour to the beautiful Calanques or visit the nice provençal countryside.
